

FY26 Budget Town Hall

District #2

County Executive Stuart Pittman
Councilmember Allison Pickard

January 9, 2025

“Bond rating agencies tell us that our county’s financial outlook is strong. We resisted the temptation to use federal recovery funds on recurring expenses, so we have no structural deficit. We have budgeted conservatively, so will end the year with a healthy fund balance.

But costs have risen, and economists warn that deportation of essential workers, tariffs on imported goods, and major cuts to the federal workforce could create economic disruptions that would negatively impact county revenues. My priority is to maintain the programs and services that have served us well, protect our most vulnerable residents, and continue the progress we are making in education.”

FY26 Fiscal Expectations

Revenues

- ▶ Stable outlook on recurring revenue w/ reduced growth
  - Income Tax – Continued modest growth; Fiduciary and penalty payments likely decrease
  - Property Tax – Assessments rising and modest new construction growth
  - Rec & Transfer – Recovering but will remain low until mortgage rates decline
  - State Funds – Potential decrease with state structural deficit looming
- ▶ Uncertainty with incoming Trump Administration
  - Decrease in federal workforce would have major negative impact
  - Tariffs or other policy change could reignite inflation

FY26 Fiscal Expectations

FY 26 Budget Considerations

Anticipated Pressures on the FY26 Budget

- ▶ Continued higher than normal inflation
- ▶ Recurring incremental revenue is dampened as recordation and transfer tax revenue remains depressed due to high mortgage interest rates
- ▶ State budget shortfalls could threaten critical state aid to County programs
- ▶ Incremental debt service, health insurance, pension and OPEB costs
- ▶ Departmental base budget increases to fund expanded services and transition from federal recovery funds
